

The forgotten art of empathy in customer marketing

Empathy is ...

A sense of self-awareness.

Taking another person's perspective.

Being able to regulate one's own emotional response.

60% of sales are lost to inertia

Stop being vague.

Start being specific.

Saying goodbye is never easy to do...So, we thought we'd give you a chance to rethink things...

Nevena,

You haven't been opening our emails in the past few months, and the last thing we want is to come across clingy. If you still want to stay connected, then just press, "Don't Let Me Go" below, and we promise we won't let you. Otherwise, we'll take you off our list in three business days. No hard feelings.

Sincerely,

Heather, You Rock!

It was just another mundane day at our office when suddenly, Jackie took a look at the computer and her eyes widened. “We did it,” she exclaimed! “We got an order from Heather Dopson!”

Laura jumped out of her chair and ran to Jackie’s desk. She didn’t even read the entire email – she just saw “Heather” and started screaming in delight! “O.M.G.” Laura shouted. “This is real! We have an order from Heather!”

The entire office erupted in applause. “Party In the USA” blared from the speakers (Jackie’s a huge Miley Cyrus fan) as confetti rained down from the ceiling and champagne bottles were popped.

The entire Native Team is thrilled you’re a customer! Thank you so much for your support and for giving us a reason to cheer on another champion of health!

As soon as we’re done exchanging high-fives, we’ll send you tracking information so you can track your package. If you have any questions or concerns, please reach out to us at support@nativecos.com.
